

HTML:

1. Create a web page with three personalities and write basic information about them along their pictures. Create three web pages about these personalities. The first page should show the name and picture of the celebrity. Clicking on one of the pictures should take you to another web page that contains basic facts about the Celebrity. On your second and third page make sure to match the bold and italic.
2. Create a CSS file called "style.css" in the same folder as the files "first.html" and "second.html". Links to the source of first.html and second.html are given below. You can look at the source using your browser's view source option. If you are not sure what this is, you can quickly find it on Google by typing "browser name view html source".
3. Your CSS file should make each of these files appear like the pictures with each file. Note that you cannot change either html file. They must be exactly as they are given. You should copy them into your own site folder and then build your CSS file so that they appear to match the pictures.
